President's message... The annual picnic this year was great, with good food, fun games, friends, and of course, Joe's home brew! I know many of you put in a lot of effort to help us put the picnic together - Thank You! I would also like to thank Lisa Ferenc for coordinating the effort this year, I think we all can agree that she did an outstanding job. We always try very hard to make the event better each year, so we would love to hear your opinion (good or bad!) of the picnic - email me at stacey.bagg@gmail.com.

Congratulations to two lovely ladies from our ski club, Elise and Sue! Elise was named this year's Racer of the Year at the picnic, and Sue was chosen as our Ski Queen for the upcoming season. Admittedly, it was a very close race between Sue and Allison for the Ski Queen title, and we hope Allison will want to represent us in next year's pageant. Good luck, Sue, on this year's CMSC pageant!

As you know, we have trips planned to Vail, Aspen/Snowmass, and Snowbasin/Powder Mountain next year. Aspen/Snowmass is sold out, but you can still get on the waiting list! You can also still snag a spot on one of the other two trips, but they are filling up! In addition, we will have weekend trips to Boyne Mountain and Laurel Hills lodge, and day trips to Holimont, Holiday Valley, and Seven Springs. It looks like we have a LOT of skiing ahead of us in 2011!

Finally, our list of summer and fall activities is included later in this newsletter - we still have a lot of fun left before skiing begins again!

Stacey

Recap of Cultural Gardens Tour

The Cultural Gardens walk went well. The morning was sunny, yet cool and the walkers enjoyed the scenery. For those that missed this opportunity, on September 19 from 1:00 PM to 5:00 PM there will be planned activities at the Gardens know as "One World Day". This event includes a dedication of new Armenian Garden, performances in the British, Irish and Hungarian Gardens, and installation of new US citizens. Paul Burik invites you to come and visit the Cleveland Cultural Gardens on MLK and East Blvds, just south of St. Clair Ave. Article and Photo by Paul Burik

Recap of Mentor Headlands Beach Day

Great weather, sunny, hot sand, lake breeze, great location. I enjoyed it, but did not meet any other club members. A great venue for any size group, approximately 45 minutes east of downtown Cleveland that could make a good location for future club activity. Article by Allen Porter

Recap of August 3rd Lewis Ski Club Picnic

Picnic: Albion Woods in the Strongsville Metro parks was the site of our club picnic this year. Very nice set-up, had ample space to spread out for eating either inside or outside at pavilion. Parking could have been an issue with rain, but we ended up with good weather. We had 77 members, 6 guests and 7 children attending. Teresa Monaco kept the kids busy with balloon and egg toss games; and corn hole bags were flying with several boards set-up for play for the adults. I think it was too hot to get people for a volleyball game, maybe next time. Joe Gruden brought some of his home brew beer to complement the other beverages being served - thanks Joe. Sterk's catering did a wonderful job with the food service. There was a minor miscommunication with them - we were supposed to have chicken & ribs with the burgers & dogs, but they forgot to put chicken on the order. Food was great anyway. The club held our monthly meeting at the picnic and had an election for our ski queen candidates between Allison Wood and Sue Rojeck, with Sue winning the title - Congratulations Sue! The club also presented trips for the coming year - get your money in for one of the three week long trips, or think of volunteering to run one of the one-day trips. I'd like to thank all the people who helped out with the shopping, games, and set-up. I would list names here but don't want to miss anyone (you know who you are). Thanks - many hands make light work. Article by Lisa Ferenc

Picnic Games: It was an absolutely perfect day for a picnic and games. Even though there was a threat of rain, not a drop of water fell on us, and the temperature was comfortable. We had a variety of games. Horseshoes and corn hole were popular for the adults. The men that played horseshoes commented that it was a real workout, so I guess they got even more muscular! We had a number of corn hole games used almost continuously. Mark Hyatt perfected his technique of tossing the corn hole bags and not spilling a single drop of beer. The kids were playing on the swings or in the sand in the volleyball pit.

Soon after the delicious food was served and eaten, the restless kids (of all ages) were ready to try the various events. The first event was tug-of-war. After a couple of tries at pulling the rope and switching contestants on each side, we moved on to the water balloon toss. Everyone managed to get very wet. I had to put the water balloons in a cooler and sit on the cooler (to protect the water balloons) because the kids wanted to bomb anyone within striking distance. If everyone did not get muddy or wet enough, then the egg toss did its job. I ended up with egg all over me (clothes, hair, etc.), and I wasn't even a contestant. Someone's aim was very bad (or probably because I was a very convenient target). The last event was the pop the balloon relay, which the contestant runs with a balloon to a chair, sits on it, and then runs back and tags the next runner. It was very noisy, and I think the most popular. We had a couple of balloons left over, so we played "keep the balloon floating" game. Victoria Wise (and she is a very wise woman indeed) got the kids to play "pick up the popped balloons and get dessert" game, so we managed to clean up the field and thus preserve the environment. There was also volleyball and badminton, but no one played those games. Afterwards, the kids played their own games, such as locking someone into the port-a-potty and hitting the outside walls, throwing various eating utensils at each other, chasing each other, or squirting someone with water from a water balloon. I had some water balloons left over, so Mike Kaltenstein channeled his "inner child" and started tossing the water balloons into the crowd. He deliberately did not have direct hits (what a gentleman!), but tossed it close enough to make it interesting. Overall, I think everyone had a good time. I know that I was exhausted and slept very well that night (hopefully the kids burned off their energy that night too!) I would like to thank everyone that helped me with the games, blew up balloons, donated equipment, and participated in the various events. Article by Teresa Monaco

Edgewater/Lakewood Bike Ride Recap Saturday August 14th

While there weren't many of us, that didn't stop us from enjoying this ride. According to one of our riders, it was his best all season because it was more than just a bike ride; we explored views and areas that he'd have never experienced otherwise.

We started at Edgewater Park and rode along the beautiful lakeside neighborhoods and homes in Cleveland and then into Lakewood. As we progressed, we stopped several times to check out the views of downtown and of interesting sights - One of these was by Pier W where in addition to the cityscape, we found caves carved out of the cliff side...Might be fun to take a kayak trip later to get a better look!

In our stop at Lakewood Park's fishing and viewing platform, we saw some areas where erosion is definitely an issue and how it was being dealt with. There was a huge earth-moving machine that was perched on a tiny strip of earth jutting out of the cliff face. We pondered how they ever got it there. Did they ship it or just lower it over the edge? We'll never know.

We rode all the way to Rocky River then made our way back to Lakewood Park for our second water stop. It was hot and muggy...but we didn't mind ...we drank lots of water and paused several times on our way back - right in the path of sprinklers to catch some cooling drops.

We quickly made our way back to Edgewater Park but instead of our planned stop at the Sunset Grill we took the bike path - up a small hill and through a really cool tunnel with some great tile work. When I realized that it took us right on to W 65 St I knew that the Stone Mad Pub was just another block away and couldn't resist. This place is chock full of fabulous craftsmanship. Check it out if you get a chance, as the stone, wood, glass and tile work are awesome! (The artist who did the tunnel also did the basement level restrooms).

The timing of our break was perfect as it poured while we ate our meals and then stopped just as we were done (so our seats got a little wet - so what). We all agreed that we enjoyed the ride and it was a great way to explore...maybe you can volunteer to lead the next one in your neighborhood. Article by Therese Telzrow

Sweet Bird and Corn Roast Bike Ride - Saturday September 25th at 1:15 pm

Not to sound "corny" but Fred Merchant wants you to go on on an a-maze-ing bike trip into the Cuyahoga National Park in Summit County, south of Peninsula...

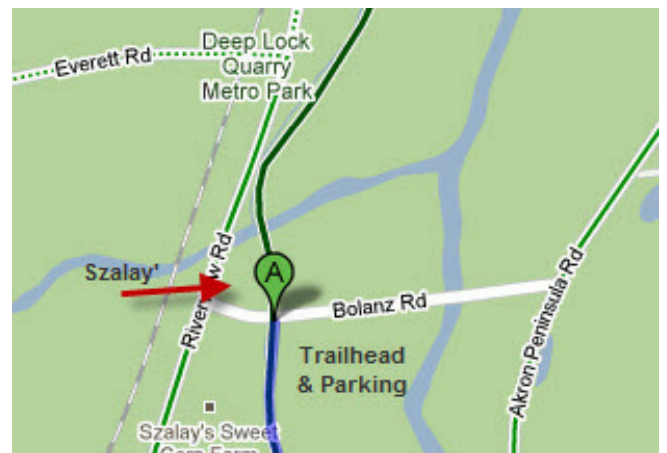

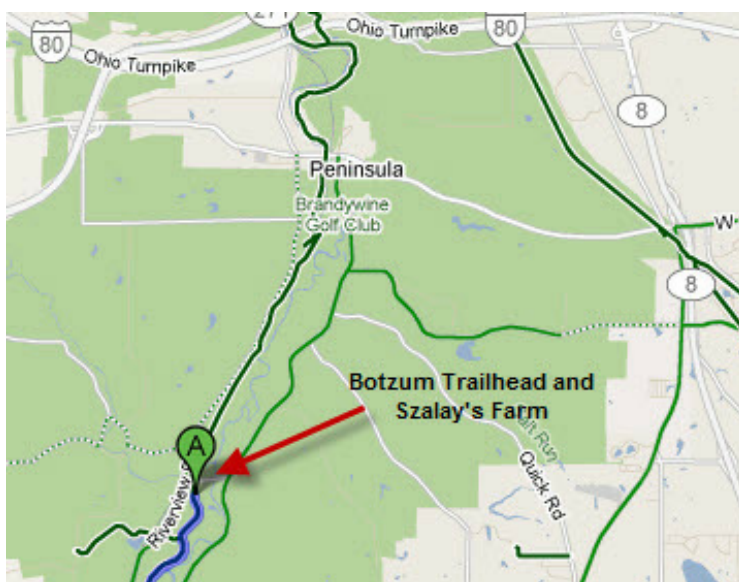

Here's an easy 20-mile bike trip in Summit County where you can ride for the first ten miles and take a rest watching 10 or 20 great blue herons flitting around maybe 50-some nests in the tree tops, and then bike back to where we started and then have some freshly roasted sweet corn, shop and maybe run around a corn maze at Szalay's Sweet Corn Farm.

Szalay's is an open farm market in the CVNP which features fresh farm products plus other locally-made goodies (food and other stuff). They have fresh roasted sweet corn, and fresh squeezed lemonade. If it's too late for lemonade they will have fresh pressed cider and homeade apple fritters. And if you bring youngsters, or if there's still some youngster in you, there is a 3-acre corn maze to get lost in and take some memorable photos. Enjoy the pumpkin and Halloween decorations, too.

Specifics:

We'll meet at the corner of Riverview Road and Bolanz Road at 1:00 PM on Saturday, September 25th. We'll start off biking at 1:15, so there's your "late margin!" (In other words, if I'm not there at 1:15 start without!!) We will bike south on the Towpath Trail about 10 miles to Bath Road's intersection with Riverview Road. From there, we ride maybe a quarter mile west on Bath Road to the "Heronry Wayside" to observe these pterodactyl beasts for a while before heading back to where we came from. We can rack the bikes on our cars and walk over to Szalay's Sweet Corn Farm and stay as long as you like and buy what you want. No worries about lugging your purchases along on your bike.

Questions? Call Fred Merchant, 330-644-3921. No RSVP required but you can e-mail me to let me know if you're coming (fmerchant@brightdsl.net). I have to drive as far as you Clevelanders to get here and it would do my weak ego good to know someone else is going to show up.
