2011/12 Trip Planning Session

Thanks Mother Nature for a Great
 Skiing and Boarding Season!

President's message... Although there's a little bit of time left to get out on the slopes this year, the season for club trips has come to a fantastic and powdery close. We had three great western trips this year, with a summary for Aspen Snowmass in this newsletter and an Ogden Utah summary being saved for next month! We also fortunately ran our last day trip, even though it was undersold less than a week before the trip we had enough participation that the club did not lose money! This one was great fun with the company of Mike Foreman, our local area astronaut hero - Thank you Mike for your stories! I want to give a big thank you to all of our trip leaders this year, as well. Trip leading has some fantastic rewards (free trips!) but requires a lot of work to make each trip memorable and fantastic. Thank you to Tom Palisin, Therese Telzrow, Paul Senick, Allison Wood, Lisa Ferenc, Jim Slifka, Judy Traxler, Mark Hyatt, John Parson, Paul Antczak, Mitch Zimmer, Tom Vannuyen and Dave Root for putting in so much work so the rest of us can have fun on the slopes! I would also like to thank Mark Hyatt and Lisa Lambert for leading our small team of racers this season - and congratulations on a great race season! As you all know, just because the snow melts we do not stop having fun - please see Ray Neumann (our incoming VP Activities) if you want to be involved in planning spring or summer activities. I hope everyone had a fantastic season, and I am looking forward to the upcoming year:

Sunset, Ledges in Cuyahoga Valley National Park

Holiday Valley #2 on Friday February 4th

The bus departed from DEB parking lot right on time and we headed for the east side pick up at Home Depot. With a bus filled with 51 people and breakfast snacks and beverages, we headed to New York. The weather was great and I think everyone had a great time, I know I did! We did our usual of going into downtown Ellicottville for dinner before heading for home. Can't believe the ski season is over already. Article by Lisa Fernec. Photo by Allen Porter

Recap of Laurel Hill Lodge Trip

Of course it was a great trip! The accommodations, the scenery, the outdoor activities in such beautiful conditions (the snow!) great people, food and drink...how could you go wrong?

13 of us spent the weekend in the Laurel Hill Lodge at the Laurel Hill State Park in Pennsylvania just outside of Seven Springs. It snowed the day before leaving us a winter wonderland. On Saturday the sky was a blazing blue and with the snow-laden trees framed against it, made such a beautiful sight...just perfect for a trek through the woods. Only two of us skied downhill at Seven Springs and even though we had to dodge the crazy skiers we still enjoyed the incredible views (see Mary's photos).

On Saturday the sky was a blazing blue and with the snow-laden trees framed against it, made such a beautiful sight...just perfect for a trek through the woods. Only two of us skied downhill at Seven Springs and even though we had to dodge the crazy skiers we still enjoyed the incredible views (see Mary's photos).

The rest of the group made several trips out on different trails and areas by either cross-country skis, snowshoes or on foot. The closest trails are located right in the park and with so much snow required some bushwhacking until hitting snowmobile trails. Within a few miles is Koozer State Park that offers a nice little jaunt through the woods, just great for a beginner. About 12 miles away is the Laurel Ridge State Park that offers miles of groomed trails, some which require a minimal fee ($6). In case you're interested in coming to this region, you can rent cross-country skis and snowshoes at their concession stand.

The lodge is perfect for a weekend get away and is well laid out. Two kitchen areas with the main one having a double oven, stove, dishwasher, microwave and refrigerator and the other with microwave, sink, prep area and another refrigerator for all those home and micro brewery beers that we enjoyed. Then there's the large breakfast bar, living room, large dining area, fireplace, clothes washer & dryer, boot and glove warmers and outside fire pit. It's the incredible all the space and amenities this lodge has to offer.

We enjoyed each other's company and all the interesting conversation, music and foods that came together. Ever try a dip with spicy jelly and cream cheese or peach salsa and cream cheese? Wow, are they good, especially with tortilla chips, crackers or even added into Whitey's chili with some extra cheddar cheese!

With all this area has to offer, the lodge and our positive experience on this trip don't be surprised if we offer another trip here in the future. If we do, don't miss it! Article & Photos by Therese Telzrow

Recap of Seven Springs Trip

Despite the dire predictions of the weatherman, 51 intrepid and hopeful skiers and riders, including none other than the current President of CMSC, showed up on Friday February 18 to enjoy a day on the slopes of Seven Springs.

Our on time departure from NASA was only a little spoiled by a short delay as we waited for two skiers who acted on habit instead of reading the trip flyer for our alternate East side pick up location! All's well and forgiven as we get on the Turnpike with a load of juice, muffins and other snacks to pass the time on board our luxury motor coach. The temperature is a balmy 60 degrees as we pull in to the parking lot and get ready to hit the slopes. The capable staff in the group sales office has our tickets ready in no time, and we catch our first chair just after 10am. Luckily, mostly cloudy skies and a fresh breeze keep the snow in relative good condition for us to make some hard earned turns. Of course any turns are good turns for me, as this is my first ski day of the season! The predicted rain never materializes, and we have good snow throughout the day. Mikel K. quickly discovers that the conditions can be variable though, finding some sticky snow off trail and executing a perfect face plant. Not bad for a certified instructor and one of our best skiers! Thankfully, some Band-Aids are produced, and the fun can continue. After a few more runs, our group decides to take a break at the top for a quick bite. After lunch, it's back on the snow to explore the rest of the runs available to us for the day. By 4 o'clock or so, most folks are ready call it a day and enjoy a few libations and some good food in the famous Foggy Goggle. The only major snag of the day occurs as we load up for the ride home. It appeared one set of skis has been "liberated" for new ownership. However, Lee L. misplaced his own equipment and it was found and shipped back to him. Our driver has us back on the road and in Cleveland in good time. All, except those who decided to listen to the weatherman, had a good time! Article and photos by Mark Hyatt

Recap of Snowmass 2011 Trip

We could not have asked for better conditions: 4 days of sunshine, followed by 8-10 inches of powder, followed by perfectly groomed runs for the last day of skiing. Snowmass/Aspen lived up to its reputation of: A Colorado Great!

Accommodations at the Stonebridge Hotel were wonderful. We all enjoyed the marvelous buffet breakfast every morning with our chef friend Joe whipping up all sorts of omelets and Belgian waffles. A lite lunch on the mountain was all that was needed to sustain us till dinner.

I did hear that two of our better skiers managed to tree hole themselves (Jim Slifka and Allen Porter). It took a while, but they both got out after a little digging! Young Robert Slifka has become quite the skier, but perhaps he is in need of rescue training if he is going to follow his Dad into the trees---Seems Jim was upside down in that tree hole with one ski tangled in the tree---wish we had a picture of that one! Billie MacIntyre had her technique improved (what little improving was needed) by Brad Elles and Steve Zlatarich and she even made it over to Ajax Mountain in Aspen, a bucket list goal of hers.

Luis Fernandez toughed out the climb up to the Hot Shot Trail, the longest trail at Snowmass 3.5 miles--he said it was spectacular! Roommate Dave Evans just enjoyed cruising the mountain in the sunshine. New members Jean Leathers and husband Gary Engle had not been on skis in years---a little rusty at first but they soon settled in on the mountain and are now hooked on the sport again. Jim Slifka's co-worker, Mark Chernsky and wife Loretta are new members to the club also. If anyone has skied with Jim Slifka, they know skiing with him will be a workout-- Jim and Mark covered the whole mountain plus Aspen.

Cheryl and Randy Bowman had great fun with boarders Stacey Bagg (our president) and Omar Mireles, her special friend from Huntsville Alabama. This was Allison Wood's first trip to Colorado and she loved it, especially getting to ski powder for the first time! Victoria Wise had a great trip because her good friend Lydia, whom she had met when she lived in England, was able to join her to ski for part of the week.

Barb and Warren Knipple, veterans of many trips out west, enjoyed not only the skiing but strolling around the great little town of Aspen. Carl Bainer splurged on this trip and bought himself new ski boots. After a little tweaking, he was good to hit the slopes.

Kristen Newcomb and Mike Senchak missed almost nothing of Snowmass Mountain--John Parsons checked out Buttermilk Mountain and even picked up a lesson. According to Diane Slifka, he has made some great progress in his effort to become a better skier.

Snowmass continued

I had the best time skiing with my crazy brother Skip, whose lovely wife Lisa, had surprised him with a birthday trip to Snowmass to ski with his sister for 4 days. What FUN for the both of us--cannot remember when I enjoyed someone else's birthday so much!

Jerry Hill never missed a day of hot tubbing after skiing hard all day. Most days you could also find Mary Donovan, Gary Norton, Jim Slifka and Judy Traxler, relaxing tired muscles in the hot bubbles!

Jim and I escorted our guests to a sumptuous meal at the Hickory Smokehouse in Aspen--served family style, it was a feeding frenzy of ribs, smoked brisket and barbequed chicken us some wonderful side dishes. Nice when the trip leaders pick up the bill!

We want to thank everyone who joined us on this trip--its not just the place but the people you are with who make the whole experience special, and this one was definitely special..

Racing News

The small, but mighty NASA racers had a great year. Full results can be found on <http://www.skicleveland.com/adracerresults.html>, but here is a summary of how the team fared:

Don G qualified into BVM this season. He was previously in CCVM. He only made a couple of races, but held his own in his new class and is eligible to win the Geiger's Rookie Racer Challenge if he attends the race banquet in April.

Bruce F did double duty as both a snowboarder and a skier. In CSB, he only made a few races, but finished as high as 3rd place. In BBVM, he finished mid-pack post of the season in a very large/competitive class. He started Combined with a 1st place in the Super-G and a 2nd place in the GS, along with a strike. He had the lead going into the Sunday Slalom, but straddled a gate. You'll get them next year, Bruce!

Cheryl A only made one race this season, but finished a solid 4th in BW (and kicked the race chair's butt!).

Lisa L struggled early in the season finishing at or near the bottom of BW for many races, but found speed to win Combined with the fastest overall time from a 1st place in the Super-G and 2nd places in both the GS and Slalom races. She finished 2nd overall in BW for the season.

Therese T only made one race this season, but finished a solid 3rd in CCVW. She's very competitive when she finds time to come race with us!

Elise A finished 1st or 2nd place in CCVW for all of the races she competed in. Well, except for one where she took the scenic route and got DQ'd (but still had the fastest time!). She dominated her class at Combined, finishing 1st place in all three races. She also placed 1st place overall in CCVW for the season. Go fast, Elise!

Overall, the team finished 7th in Division II and had a very fun season! Contact Lisa Lambert, Race Chair (216) 433-3994 Lisa.M.Lambert@nasa.gov in the Fall, for details if you want to become part of the small, but fun NASA race team next season!

Nordic News

Laurel Hill Lodge trip was quite a success. Thirteen people car-pooled and had great cross-country and downhill skiing conditions. The lodge was large, holding 2 kitchens, 5 bedrooms, and plenty of living room space. It had a washer/dryer and even boot dryers! He recommended it for future trips. There were other cabins that would accommodate fewer people but could be rented at the same time, if needed, for next year.

On Sun. Jan. 30th, a few Club members met at Big Met Golf Course for cross-country skiing. The weather was sunny and everyone had a good time. Cross country skiing access to Big Met is from the lower parking lot. If you want to connect with other interested cross country skiers call Allen at 440-476-1531. Picture Allen Porter was taken at Chapin Forest where you can get full outfitted for $5.00. Nordic VP Allen Porter, allengporter1@yahoo.com
