President's message...

Yes, by the calendar, it's officially winter. Looking outside though, it appears that someone forgot to tell old man winter to "let it snow!" Hopefully the groundhog will get the message and provide us with six more weeks of winter.

Still, the conditions are good for getting the skis/snowboards out on the slopes and I've already seen a number of you out on the slopes this season. Even though it has been an up and down year with the snow, the ski conditions have been better than expected at the resorts. The resorts are working hard to keep the slopes open. Only a few more months in the season before you'll have to wait an entire year to get out in the snow again. Don't miss out on the rest of the season. Consider signing up for one of the upcoming day trips. Speaking of trips, a special thanks to all of the trip leaders this season. Next time you see one of the trip leaders, be sure to express your appreciation for all of their hard work they have volunteered to the club.

Glissading down the side of Mt. Shasta.

A special thanks to Dr. Gentner, who spoke at our January club meeting. I'm sure you found her wise words on how to reduce stress and stay healthy quite useful. At the upcoming February club meeting, bring your ideas and desires for future club activities and trip destinations for both the winter and warm seasons. We are always looking for more fun activities and yes, we are already looking at options for the next snow season. We want to hear from you. Also, mark your calendar for the March meeting, as we'll be discussing basic information on gear maintenance. I'm sure you have already noticed, but this season the artificial snow is wearing on the gear more than usual.

Lastly, if anyone has a direct line to Jack Frost, let me know and I'll personally put in a request for more snow.

—Aaron

Racing News

The 2012 racing season has started without loads of snow, but it is finally here. The CMSC weekend race series started off at Holiday Valley with the ENTIRE race team present for the Giant Slalom race on Saturday, Jan 7th. Individual results are included here, but Therese led the team with a first place finish and we welcomed back Paul who requalified into CCM. Half of the team stayed for the Slalom race on Sunday Jan 8th and we were again led by Therese with another first place finish. Our small, but mighty, race team finished an impressive 5th place overall in Division II on Saturday and 6th place on Sunday.

The Kissing Bridge race scheduled for Sunday, Jan 15th was cancelled due to the lack of winter weather (not that it stopped some of us from going skiing there and having a great time anyway), but racing fun was had again at the Swain I race.

Racer	Class	Holiday Valley		Swain I
		GS Place	Slalom Place	GS Place	Slalom Place
Bruce	BBVM	2	3	2	1
Mark	BBM	3
Elise	BVW	5	6	5	DQ
Don	BVM	7
Lisa	BW	3	3	1	1
Cheryl	BW	5
Therese	CCVW	1	1
Paul	CCM	Qualified
Bruce	CCSB	7		5
Mark	CCSB	3

On Saturday, Jan 21st, Lisa led the team with a strong first place finish on the ice rink, aka the Giant Slalom race. On Sunday, Jan 22nd, Elise had a bit of trouble on the ice luge (er, Slalom race), but Lisa and Bruce both managed to survive two runs and finish with first place finishes in their respective classes. The team finished 7th on Saturday and 6th on Sunday.

At this point of the season, Bruce and Lisa are leading their respective classes in points. The race season will continue with two local races – at Snow Trails on Feb 4th and at Boston Mills on Feb 5th. Come on out and cheer the racers on! The Snowballers ski club is having a tailgate party in the afternoon at both races that everyone is welcome to enjoy (bring a dish to share, BYOB, purchase a burger/brat, socialize!). We then head back out of Ohio for races at Holiday Valley, Peek `n Peak and back to Swain. The full schedule is on the web.

NASA Lewis Ski Club goes to...

We checked into our home for the week at The Phoenix and learned that if the walk to the gondola was too far, we had several shuttles at our beck and call. After the afternoon grocery and beverage run, we gathered for our welcome party where rental equipment was delivered with supreme efficiency. Glen & Stephany of Ski Butlers really took care of us all week. Sunday brought our reason for being there – SKIING! Fortunately (Huh?), the conditions were comparable to New York skiing, so the locals stayed away (Oh! Right!). We enjoyed the absence of lines and traffic on the slopes that day and into Monday. Monday evening the snow gods accepted our offering of nachos and margaritas and dumped nearly a foot of fresh powder on the mountain overnight. Hey, Lori, what say next time we serve those margaritas on the rocks instead of frozen so that the temp pushes higher than 8° for the day?

The ski patrol can get skiers off the mountain on snowmobiles and sleds – If anyone misses the mountain, call Christina's cell phone (continued on page 6)

Steamboat trip (continued from page 5)

- Don't talk to Lori when the plane is landing - Judy has an awesome brother
- If you don't remember any names, just yell "JIM!" - Skis stop when they hit grass - long stories ... Tuesday afternoon, Steamboat entertained with the Annual Cowboy Downhill. It's exactly what it sounds like - cowboys on skis... in their chaps! YeeeeHAW!

Wednesday night the entire group enjoyed a family-style dinner at the Steamboat Smokehouse. Thursday and Friday were fabulous days for skiing, happy hour, the hot tub, and shopping. Friday night we met again at The Clubhouse and brought all our leftovers to share. I must say, I was shocked at the amount of leftover beverages! Anybody for a round of pool?

It truly was a great week. Let's do it again next season!

Thanks to Lori Manthey, Sue L'Hommedieu, & Jim Childers for the awesome pics included in this article.

Let it snow!

Holiday Valley I recap

In spite of the doubtful weather and lack of snow in Cleveland, 43 hearty, courageous Lewis Ski Club members loaded the bus in the mild, predawn weather optimistic that a sketchy ski-day Friday in Holiday Valley is better than a great day at the office. We welcomed first timers including, Jim Caldwell, Melissa Wood, Brandon Puckett, Sarah Mc Carroll, and Luanne Keys, to name only a few of the many. We were treated to a hearty breakfast of muffins, granola bars, fresh fruit, water and juice skillfully procured and served by assistant trip leader, Tom Vannuy-en.

Additional club members car pooled to Ellicottville and took advantage of the group lift ticket rate. Many brought their own boots, skis and poles for to tune up their equipment for the new season, others found the quality of rental equipment excellent for both experienced, novice and newbie skiers. At 4:30 we emptied the slope side drinking establishments and loaded the bus for Ellicottville dining. Many have their favorite apres ski fine dining spots including; the Gin Mill, Bar, EBC, Tips up to name a few. The shopping is always fun from homemade candy, to jewelry and sports wear. We enjoyed a restful return trip with the Warren Miller movie entertaining those who could keep their eyes open.

Seven Springs trip recap

The weather was in the brisk 20-degree range when we got on the bus for our Seven Springs trip, which was better than the 40 degree temps and rain that we had days before. Had a full bus of 41 west-siders, 10 east-siders, and Bob Kwiakowski meeting us there to pick-up his 3 lift tickets. We enjoyed our breakfast snacks of muffins, cuties, juice & water on the bus ride up with our bus driver Ed getting us there in lickety split time. Some runs were closed and some you had to steer around the snow making machines, but I thought it was a wonderful day of skiing. Everyone was on their own for dinner with the bus departing shortly after 7:00 pm to head home.

We only had two mishaps that I know of, at the east-side drop off one person was anxious to get home and took someone else's boots by mistake, but the boots were reunited the next day. My misfortune was that I couldn't find my car keys once we got back to NASA, lucky for me that Mikel Kaltenstein hung around and was gracious enough to give me and my son Alex a ride home, thanks again Mike!
